Council member Adam Arendell appointed to serve as an alternate representative to the 2018 Houston-Galveston Area Council Board of Directors

The Houston-Galveston Area Council (H-GAC) is based in Houston, Texas and services 12,500 square miles, containing more than 6 million people in Southeast Texas. H-GAC is the regional organization through which local governments consider issues and cooperate in solving area-wide problems. Through H-GAC, local governments also initiate efforts in anticipating and preventing problems.

H-GAC provides planning programs in most areas of shared governmental concern. All H-GAC programs are carried out under the policy direction of H-GAC's local elected official Board of Directors. H-GAC is made up of the region's local governments and their elected officials. The organization works with public and private sector organizations and a host of volunteers.

Council member Adam Arendell serves as the City of Alvin's representative to the H-GAC General Assembly and attends monthly meetings to discuss regional needs and concerns. He was recently selected to serve as an alternate to the H-GAC Board of Directors, representing Home Rule Cities under 25,000 in population. Thank you, Council member Arendell for your commitment and continued service to the City of Alvin.
