Alvin, Texas. (April 24, 2017) are invited to sit down with city leaders to discuss how the City intends to fund infrastructure projects as the city prepares for future growth.

The City engaged the services of Freese and Nichols, Inc. to draft the City's Utility Master Plan and perform a water and wastewater study. To fund the first five years of projects identified by the Plan, the City must increase the water and wastewater rates. City leaders encourage citizens to attend the roundtable meeting to discuss the water and wastewater projects and how it will impact residential and business customers. A public hearing on this topic is also scheduled for the May 18 City Council meeting.
