TS Harvey Update #2

Tropical System Harvey - Update #2 - 8/24/17 - 9:45 a.m.

Harvey is predicted to hit the Texas Gulf Coast near Corpus Christi early Saturday morning as a Category 1 Hurricane with sustained winds of 85 mph. Brazoria County is now under the Tropical Storm warning area. Tropical storm force winds may be seen in our area, but of greater concern for us, are the predicted rainfall amounts. Brazoria County is still threatened with up to 15 inches of rain over the next 5-7 days. Please be aware that these forecasts and know that the predictions are always subject to change. Be weather aware and stay informed. Please be prepared. Have enough supplies on hand to last several days. Residents are encouraged to stay home and off the roadways when the heavy rain and winds begin.

We will work to send out updates as the information becomes available. This information will be placed on the homepage of our website www.alvin-tx.gov and on the City's Facebook page.
